Parent Teacher Conferences!!!

Our first parent teacher conferences will be held next week on Wednesday, September 27th from 4:00pm until 8:00pm. This is a great opportunity for you to meet teachers and discuss your child's progress. We will also be handing out student PARCC and CMAS scores from last spring. We hope to see you all here.

We will also be having a book fair all next week. The book fair will be open during conferences for you to be able to shop with your child. Students will be able to shop all week and buy some new books.

Upcoming opportunity for students!!!

There is a Trail Leadership training on October 7th and 8th with the Volunteers for Outdoor Colorado. There are slots for approximately 11 youth participants. Participants will have an advantage for trail crew positions hired through our GOCO Inspire, or USFS, BLM trail crews next summer. There may be a nominal charge ($10-20) for this training and also includes a 4 hour on-line component. First come, first served on signup.

This week we are challenging you to be students of self affirmation.

Self affirmation is important because it helps us remember all of the great qualities we have, why we are important in this world and what we are capable of achieving. Each day this week think of something you like or enjoy about yourself and remind yourself of that thing all day, tell yourself why you like that piece of you and how it is important to you to hang onto that quality. Have a great week!"
