"As we head into the colder weather it can be easy for our motivation to be active to go away, however A Kidz Clinic wants you to really make an effort to stay active this winter, find an activity that you enjoy that you can do inside or outside that will keep you as active as possible all winter long! Physical activity is an important piece of overall health. Try doing some simple morning exercises before school like jumping jacks or running in place or even cartwheels. Thanks everyone have an awesome week!"
